Our Service

1. Our OEM/ODM Service

From planning to delivery, we manage everything in in-house production.

We would like to introduce our advantage and the process of delivery.

The Process, from the first meeting to the final delivery

From the planning of the design concept and products through manufacture, our comprehensive internal process guarantees our customers high quality and speedy OEM / ODM.

Our Service

2. Quadrille Craftsmanship

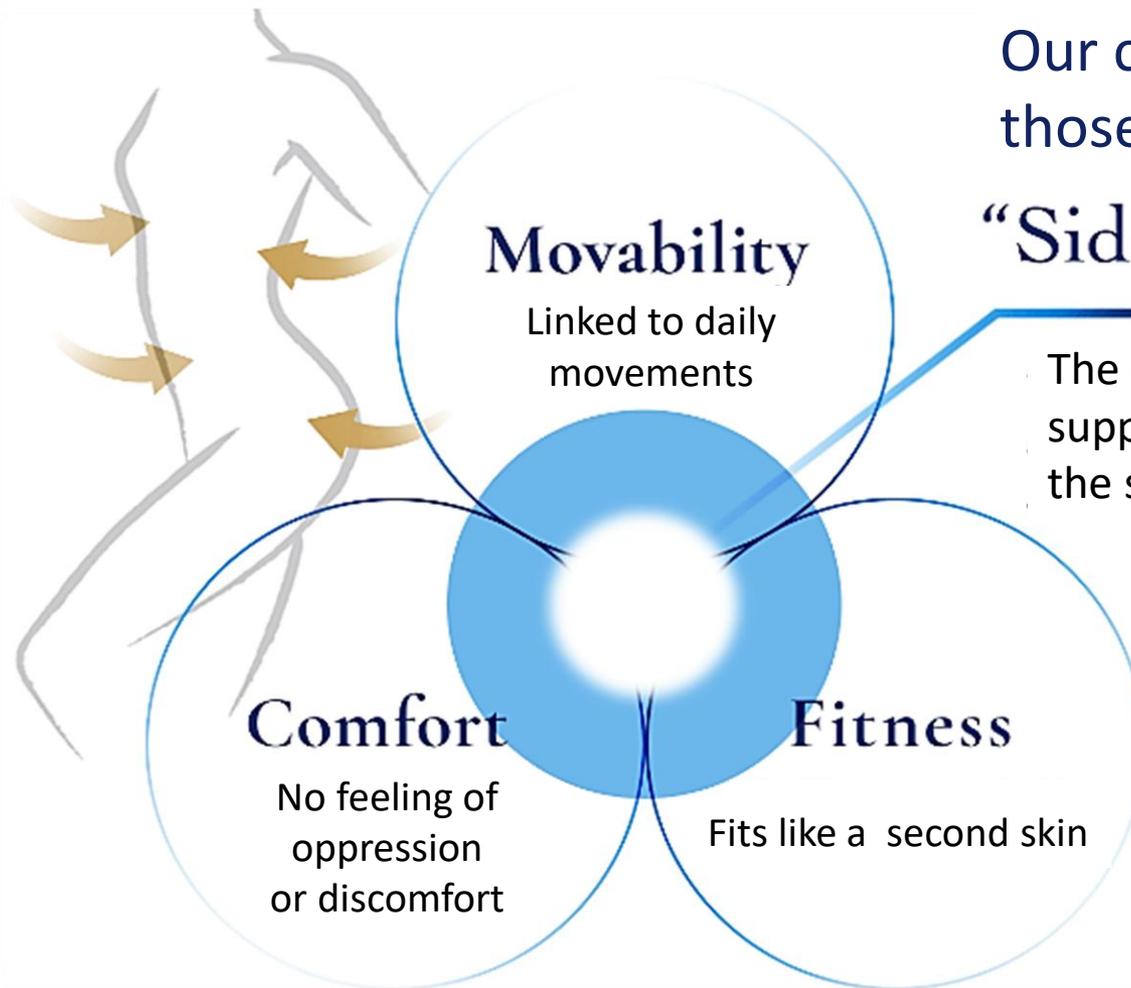

We pursue high-quality production with our product development capability, backed up by solid technique, as a partner who understands customers' needs.

Our original pattern theory 1

Our original pattern theory of “side support design” combines comfort, fitness and mobility.

Our craftsmanship satisfies those 3 conditions.

“Side Support Design”

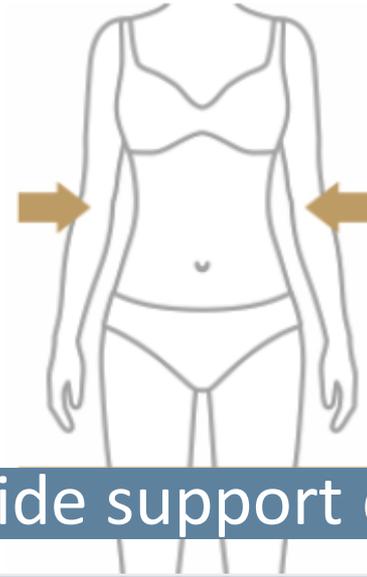

The original pattern theory to provide support from both sides, considering the shape of the human body.

Our original pattern theory 2

General design

The brassiere with a common structure, the force is applied in the front-back direction of the body, which inevitably creates a feeling of pressure.

Side support design

The brassiere with a side support design, the force is applied in the left-right direction of the body. That reduces tightness and also keeps the brassiere in the best position. As a result, a woman can move more freely.
